Class History

The school bell rang loud and clear on a bright September day of 1941 to summon thirty bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, sliced-up youngsters to the first grade room of Mrs. S. Shutt where they would begin their school career. This was a very memorable year--with all the "Bob sees dog", recesses, parties, and vaccinations.

The years rolled by, and we took the joys and sorrows of each in stride. New students took the places of those who left us.

Finally we became high school freshmen. By this time our ranks had dwindled to twenty. Miss Waters, as our home room teacher, steered us through what seemed very turbulent waters. Helping her were Mrs. M.C. Bowden, Mrs. Margaret Sutton, and Mr. C. L. Fouts. Jennings Strickland joined us this year, but when the next year began we had lost Velva Bland, Will Cottle, Helen Weeks, Alberta Grady, Bobby Cottle, Hilda Sanderson, Annie Lou Lane, Lonnie Miller, Edward Hargrove, and Franklin Smith. We veterans of one year's experience were sophomores under Mrs. Evangeline B. Mathis. We could hardly wait to be juniors. So many opportunities were waiting for us! But we suffered another blow--Helen Gore, Shirley Moore, Clara Summerlin and Lula Belle Hare had stopped school to get married and Roy James had transferred to Goldsboro. We could never have withstood such a loss without the addition of Shirley Herring and Lila Belle McCullen who joined us. One of the big events of this year was the Jr. play. Yes, in "Mama's Baby Boy" we were real actors and actresses. Then came the Jr.-Sr. banquet. Never shall we forget the kindness and generosity shown by our former teachers, parents, and sponsor in helping us entertain the Srs. of '52. It was about this time that we realized that we were on the last mile of the journey which began in September 1941. Yes, our senior year was drawing near.

The school bell rang loud and clear on August 23, 1952---And again a group of bright eyed, rosy-cheeked, sliced-up youngsters greeted their teacher. We were seniors now and it was almost worse than being first graders. We missed Belle Lee, who had transferred to Peace. We had so much to do, but we soon realized that Mr. Gray, our new principal, was also our friend and this made the going much easier. Shirley and Jean, as office helpers have helped Mr. Gray "run the school" this year. Lorraine and Lila Belle have played basketball (Oh, so hard!). Bobby Lee helped the boy's team just as much. Marvin and Jennings have driven school busses. Cubby has kept us "up" on all the new dance steps. Gerald and Joe have been so very valuable because they worked on jobs that nobody else liked. Jimmy is directly responsible for this annual, because he collected the pictures for us. Teeny has kept us all laughing. (Thank you, Teeny). In conclusion, this class history is one for the books and if you start to read a history book one day and find this written on the last page don't be a bit surprised.

" CLASS OF '53 "

Hail to us, the class of '53
Whose sorrows and struggles you've known.
Though very few we be
You'll always see that we're not alone.

Years may roll over you and me
And time with arms may fly .
But you'll never forget the class of '53
As long as there is a "Faison High."

Class Prophecy

It has been ten years now since the Srs. of Faison High School, school year of '53 graduated and this is a party which is taking place ten years later. I hope everyone will be present. Before the party begins let's turn the spot light on each individual and learn a little about their present lives.

There is Jimmy Padgett passing out cigars because he has just become the proud father of twin boys. Again! He came from California yesterday where he is a very successful car dealer for the Oldsmobile and Cadillac company. Gerald and his wife are talking quietly in a corner. He is wearing his Captain's army uniform and makes quite a striking appearance. He went to Korea a few years ago and as a result of his bravery he wears many decorations. They are planning to visit in Faison for a while and then they will go to Fort Bragg. Someone is reading from a Bible. I can't recognize him. Oh, I know. It's Joe Bass but I'd never have guessed it. A certain person must have been a very good influence on him because according to his dress and manner I'd say he's a minister. Jennings Strickland is lounging in an easy chair. He can afford to because he became active in politics and step by step has won himself a name. He is now state senator for North Carolina. Bobby Lee is crossing the room to join the others. They say he owns his own farm now and that ranch style home is really something to look at. I wonder if he's still single. He always told me no one would ever catch him. Guess who that is cutting capers in the center of the room. Of course it's Donald Bell and he's still at it. Here's something I just heard and I think it's true. "Donald O. Connor worked in the movies with a talking mule but Donald O. Bell is starring with a talking cow." He is a movie star and about two years ago he made his first successful picture. Marvin Arnette always had a smooth voice and it surely paid off too. He works as a radio announcer and a news commentator. Shirley Herring is talking now. She owns a little dress shop in Baltimore and designs all the dresses. Of course this is only part time because she spends the rest of her time playing house. Lila Belle is sitting beside her. She just said that Jr. has a cold. She works part time as a receptionist for an important Dr. and keeps house the rest of the time. Listen, someone is singing the blues. This singer is a great celebrity known the world over, and you can go to any of those ritzy night clubs in New York and you'll pay to hear him. He's none other than Cub Adams who has finally realized his life's ambition. Well, that leaves only me, and I guess you know who I am. This party is being held in my apartment. Incidentally, this is the state of Georgia, and I am quite satisfied with my job as private secretary to the owner of a large business concern. I might add that my job isn't exactly full time either because a few years ago I changed my name. Be quiet now, because Cub is going to sing us a song. As he begins, one thought passes slowly through each mind. What we wouldn't give to be able to live over just one of those old school days. We know exactly which one we would choose but Father Time has kept his steady pace and we know we shall never return except in memories. We know that our paths have branched off into many different directions but this party has brought us all together once more and we are endeavoring to recapture some of the old school spirit. The song is over and a great quiet sweeps the room. Everyone is still thinking. Suddenly there is a knock at the door which disturbs this quiet and all eyes are focused in that direction. Who can that be? Everyone is present and this is a private party and a private apartment. Don't go away because I'll be right back. I guess it's up to me to see who is at the door because no one else will move. What is there about that knock that holds the crowd in such suspense? Well, -----, I can't believe it. It's Mrs. Mathis, How did she get here? She looks wonderful and there are tears in everyone's eyes as she passes through the room greeting the startled faces. Now, she's coming back to me. We have many things to talk about so I won't be back for quite a while. It's been a great pleasure talking to you and if you're still around when the party is over we'll talk some more, but it may be a little late, so don't depend on it.

Class Will

Last Will and Testament
State of North Carolina
County of Duplin
Township of Faison

We, the Senior Class of 1953, Faison High School, town of Faison, County of Duplin, State of North Carolina, being in full possession of a sound mind, clear memory, and strong body, realizing that our days in this noble institution must soon come to an end, do make and declare this our last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

To our Faculty we give one night of restful sleep, with the hopes that you never have another class like us.

ARTICLE II

To our parents, and friends, who have, through their devotion and sacrifice made this graduation possible, we give our sincerest and deepest gratitude for every kind deed that has been shown us on our way.

ARTICLE III

To the Seniors of 1954, we leave, with confidence that they will use it properly, our Senior dignity, of superiority when we see the underclassmen wondering what it is all about. Don your Senior robe with care, shouldering the responsibilities of carrying on all Senior work.

ARTICLE IV

Sec. 1. I, Marvin Arnette, will my school bus to Gwen Hines, and my typing ability to Charles Miller.

Sec. 2. I, Jennings Strickland, will my ability to talk in French class to Charlie Bell because he needs mine and his, and my English work book to Shirley Bland.

Sec. 3. I, Cub Adams, bequeath my love for dancing to Frank Precythe, and my ability to sleep in class to Mamie King.

Sec. 4. I, Shirley Herring, bequeath my excess fat to Ann Best, and my ability to lie to Denis Price.

Sec. 5. I, Joe Bass, will my position on the Base Ball team to Ben Parks, and my legs to Ethel (Cooner, Jr.) Boone.

Sec. 6. I, Gerold Aman, will my love for women to James Cooper and my proxide nair to Ann Warren Matthews, so we can keep it in the family.

Sec. 7. I, Bobby Lee, bequeath just one curl to Julia (P-E-A-R-L) Bass, and my short dress (from the Senior Play) to Ben Hobbs, Jr.

Sec. 8. I, Lila Belle Mc Cullen, will my walk to John Cottle, and my nylon blouse to Carolyn Wilson.

Sec. 9. I, Donald Bell, will my good looks to Clarence Miller, and my ability to pester everyone to Lola Stewart.

Sec. 10. I, Jimmie Padgette, bequeath my love for sports to Anne Bowden, and my ability to go home and work to Morton Hollingsworth.

Sec. 11. I, Lorraine Sutton, bequeath my blue elfies (shoes) to Shirley Lane and my wrist watch that never fails to Tommie Cottle.

Sec. 12. I, Jean Amon, will my ability to talk in class to Rex Best, and my love for Bop music to Martna Adams.

Faison

This is the class of fifty four
 And I'm sure no one could ask for more.
 Now take Carolyn Wilson by chance
 You just ought to see that girl square dance.
 Terry Hoaglan, that new girl from Buffalo
 Sure did make Bobby Williamson's eyes glow.
 Marian Kalmar, who likes "It's in the Book"
 When thinking of "B.M." will always have a sad look.
 We all know how bashful Julia Taylor used to be
 Well, the changes that have been made you ought to see.
 Tommy Cottle usually gives the Grantham girl's a whirl
 But maybe he'll soon look twice at some Faison girl.
 Ann and Donald finally made that match
 And now Shirley doesn't want Bernice to batch.
 Dennis Price's school spirit, we hope he'll save.
 Bailey Britt's mustache the girls hope he'll shave.
 Gwen Hines, whose nickname is "Shag"
 Seems to have all the boys in a bag.
 Morton Hollingsworth, who is a very good sport
 Is really a whiz on the basketball court.
 Nancy and Evelyn who you might or might not hear
 Have made very good ice cream salesgirls this year.
 Lola and Shirley seem to be pretty good pals
 And I'm sure we couldn't find any sweeter gals.
 Clarence Miller who the Junior Class thinks is a nut
 Could easily (jokingly) be classed as a mutt.
 Dickie Bailey who is known for his good looks
 Is really not such a dummy when it comes to books.

A student government organization in the Faison High School dates back to the school year 1945-46. It was set up with the following aims in mind:

1. To promote a closer co-operation between students and faculty.
2. To foster a spirit of democracy among our students.
3. To develop self-control and self-reliance.
4. To enlarge the opportunities for training in citizenship.
5. To encourage higher morals and scholastic standards.
6. To improve the school spirit and school organizations.

The editorial policy of Faison High School's first newspaper was built around these five objectives:

1. To promote school spirit.
2. To promote co-operation and good will between students and faculty.
3. To encourage a spirit of sportsmanship in the student body.
4. To publicize the school activities.
5. To promote good will between the school and community.

With gladsome voices come we here,
From Faison school, from Faison school,
To sing of her we love so well-
Dear Faison school.

With truth's bright lamp she guides our feet,
Makes smooth our way and wondrous sweet,
And strengthens us life's tasks to meet-
Dear Faison school.

And in the distant days to come,
Dear Faison school, dear Faison school,
Our hearts to thee in love will turn,
Dear Faison school.

In loving memory will behold
The lesson thou has taught of old.
They precepts shining like pure gold,
Dear Faison school.

SIGNING ANNUALS

Signing annuals really ended the school year in spite of the protest of the Administration. Everybody just wrote and wrote all over everybody's book, until the annual adviser confided to Clementine that she often wondered why she bothered about what went into the annual when all anybody wanted was a place to write.
